

200 IN PANIC AS TUG RAMS BIG FERRYBOAT

Pennsylvania Railroad
Vessels Crash Together in North River.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Annex ferryboat No. 8, loaded with passengers, was run down by the big Pennsylvania tug Ashmore just as she left her Brooklyn slip today. The bow of the tug became firmly fixed in the broken and tangled port paddle wheel of the ferryboat, and the two vessels, thus locked together, floated up the East River on the strong tide, while the 200 passengers fought and scrambled in the throes of a panic.

As Capt. Baxender, at the wheel of the Annex, emerged from the slip with his boat of Jersey City-bound passengers, he saw the Ashmore, towing two barges, hurrying north just outside the pier line. He just had time to signal for a reverse of the engines, but the engine did not have time to get the paddle-wheel fairly turned backward when the prow of the Ashmore smashed into the port paddle-box of the Annex.

Panic Seizes Passengers.
The impact knocked the passengers from their seats, and those persons who had been standing were felled to the decks. Women screamed and ran with the men in wild confusion about the boat. Baxender tried to calm the passengers, but for several minutes they had little success.

The blow from the tug gave the Annex a bad list to port, and in that condition, the two boats, locked together, so that the ferryboat hung suspended on the pinpoints of the tug's prow, started to drift on the swift tide up the river.

Capt. Baxender urged all of the passengers to go to the starboard side of the Annex. When they did this their weight lifted the port side so that the Ashmore could back out of the clutch the paddle box had on its bow.

Passengers Land Safely.
Just then the tug Radnor, which was bound down the river light, ran up to the Annex, passed it a line and towed it and its passengers over to the Pennsylvania station in Jersey City. There the passengers were put ashore, none having been hurt.

It was found that the Annex had been so severely damaged that it was sent to the road's ship yard, where it will probably require several weeks to repair it.

The Pennsylvania officials denied that there had been any accident. The Pennsylvania station master said that no Annex ferryboat had been run down. The superintendent of piers for the company also entered his denial, although the smashed ferryboat was only 100 yards from him at the time and notwithstanding the presence of a score of passengers who had been in the smash-up.

CHICAGO MEN WILL APPEAL FOR PATRICK

Effort to Show Gov. Higgins that Millionaire Rice Was Not Poisoned.

(Special to The Evening World.)
ALBANY, Sept. 19.—Several prominent Chicago business men will call on Gov. Higgins tomorrow in the interest of Albert T. Patrick, three times stayed from the chair through executive and court interference and whose case is now on appeal before the United States Court. Patrick was sentenced to die on the charge of murdering William M. Rice.

The purpose of this conference is to discuss the effect of embarrassing rumors on dead bodies. The Chicago supporters of Patrick will try to show the governor that the poison discovered in Rice's body might have been that in the embalming fluid.

"I fail to see what I can do in the matter, as the case is in the United States courts," remarked the governor today.

SENTENCED TO DIE,
HE NOW LEAVES PRISON.

Convict Had Death Penalty Lifted,
Then Term Shortened and Next Gets a Pardon.

(Special to The Evening World.)
ALBANY, Sept. 19.—Gov. Higgins today pardoned four convicts, one of whom was Joseph Huidick of New York sentenced in November, 1885, to be executed on a charge of murder. Gov. Hill twice commuted his sentence, the first time to life imprisonment and the second to forty years.

Judge Jenks, of Brooklyn, who assisted the District Attorney in prosecuting the Italian, made the chief appeal for his pardon. Judge Jenks' interest in the case was aroused while visiting Auburn prison with Judges Rich and Miller recently. The Warden asked a convict to get the keys to the prison, as he wanted to show the judges through the institution. The convict was Huidick.

When surprise was expressed at allowing a convict to have control of the keys the Warden said: "Why, he is a trusty."

The Italian has been in prison twenty-five years and had never violated a rule during that time.

RUSSIAN GENERAL SHOT TO DEATH BY FIVE ASSASSINS

Nicolaieff Surrounded as He Walked on Street in Warsaw.

WARSAW, Russian Poland, Sept. 19.—Gen. Nicolaieff, of the artillery, has been assassinated here. He was erroneously thought to be a member of the Field Court Martial.

Gen. Nicolaieff was walking on Wlodka street this morning when he was surrounded by five revolutionists and shot dead.

The murderers escaped. Sept. 19.—In view of the possibility of urban disorders the War Office has decided to add hand grenades to the equipment of the troops. These are considered more efficacious than cannon in attacks on barricades and large quantities of them have been forwarded to Warsaw and other Polish cities.

CZAR ABSENT FROM TREPPOFF'S FUNERAL

ST. PETERSBURG, Sept. 19.—Gen. Dmitri Trepoff, who died last Saturday, was buried at Peterhof today.

Contrary to expectation, the czar was not present at the funeral, he still being in Finnish waters on board the imperial yacht, Stark.

A great throng of army officers and high functionaries followed the casket on foot, according to the Russian custom, through lines of soldiery representing all the units of the St. Petersburg garrison, from the Cathedral and thence to the place of interment.

Although an attempt by revolutionists to interrupt the services was feared, nothing happened.

The fact that the Emperor did not abandon his pleasure cruise to attend the funeral has aroused much unfavorable comment.

The Emperor and Empress were represented today only by magnificent wreaths. A high police officer explained that the czar's absence was due to Premier Stolypin, who had been informed that an attempt might be made on his life and telegraphed him not to return.

The only members of the imperial family who attended the funeral were Grand Duke Nicholas, Scherzer, his brother, Grand Duke Peter, and Grand Duchess Elizabeth, widow of the late Grand Duke Sergius, and a sister of the Emperor.

STENOGRAPHER IS EMPLOYER'S BRIDE

Insurance Romance Culminates in Wedding in Jersey City Church.

An insurance romance culminated this afternoon when Edward L. Hale, of No. 12 Broadway, married Miss Jennie Ryno, of Jersey City, his stenographer for the last few years.

The couple were wed at St. John's Episcopal Church, Jersey City, by the Rev. Dr. Stoddard and left immediately for the South.

Mr. Hale is the son and partner of his father in the firm of Henry Hale & Son agents for the Equitable Assurance Society. He is in comfortable circumstances and has purchased a fine residence in Wyoming, N. J., as a wedding gift to his bride.

Three years ago Miss Ryno answered an advertisement for a stenographer, and entered the employ of the sales. She is a pretty brunette, plump of figure and sweet of disposition. Young Hale is the outside man for his firm, but after the advent of Miss Ryno he began to take a deep interest in the correspondence of the company.

Clicks in the establishment tell of frequent dinners of the couple together and an occasional visit to the theatre after a hard day at dictation. While the Armstrong Investigating Committee was at work Mr. Hale and Miss Ryno were recently their courtship, which culminated in a short engagement.

Miss Ryno has picked out for her wife a woman who may be poor in finances, but who is rich in the qualities of womanly nobility," said the elder Mr. Hale to an Evening World reporter today.

The bride's home was at No. 21 Seventh street, Jersey City.

MISS HARRIMAN SPONSOR
AT CREOLE LAUNCHING.

QUINCY, Mass., Sept. 19.—In the presence of a large company of New York and Boston shipping men and a number of naval officers the steamship Creole, built by the Fore River Shipbuilding Company for the Atlantic Steamship Line, of the Southern Pacific Company, was launched at the company yard today.

She was christened by Miss Mary Harriman, daughter of Edward H. Harriman, President of the Southern Pacific Company, who broke a bottle of champagne on the bow. The launching was entirely successful.

The guests, among whom was Rear Admiral Joseph B. Cogan, arrived here on a special train from Boston and occupied a handsomely decorated launching stand. They were later entertained at luncheon in the model constructed here the Creole is the first ever built by the Fore River Company.

MINISTER LOST LAW SUIT, BUT WON BRIDE

Engagement of Rev. F. A.
Davendam to Miss Marie
Lohse Announced.

Jersey City social circles received quite a surprise to-day when the engagement was announced of F. Arnold Davendam, pastor of the Wayne Street Lutheran Church, to Miss O. Marie Lohse, daughter of a late wealthy grocer, who bequeathed her $50,000. The love affair grew out of a lawsuit in which the young woman was one of the plaintiffs and the pastor one of the defendants.

Lohse, who owned a chain of retail stores, died three years ago. He left most of his fortune to his wife and two daughters, but bequeathed $2,000 to Davendam's church. The family contested the will and after a bitter legal fight which extended over a period of two years they were victorious.

During the trial of the case the pastor and the young woman were in court every day. She was a member of his congregation, but they saw more of each other at law. A friendship resulted and it ripened into the romance which follows so quickly upon the announcement that the pastor was defeated in his efforts to get the bequest for his church.

Miss Lohse lives at No. 124 Jersey avenue. She is eighteen years old, a pretty brunette and has moved in the highest social circles across the river. Davendam is twenty-eight years old and has been pastor of the church for five years.

The date of the wedding has not been decided upon.

Schley, bride of a New York broker, was taken to a private hospital for an operation, the nature of which has not been disclosed. It is reported, however, that she was among those injured in yesterday's wreck on the Colorado and Southern road.

Mrs. Chalmers Schley was formerly Mrs. William Cooke Daniels, of New York.

SCREAM STARTLES SHERRY'S

Accident to a Workman Sets
Breakfasters in a Panic.

Breakfasters in Sherry's to-day were startled from their meal and sent in panic by a scream from the rear of the main dining room. The cry was uttered by Des Long, a plasterer, of No. 27 East One Hundred and Fourth street, who was knocked insensible while working in the building. He was standing on a scaffold at the third floor when another workman on the fifth floor scaffold dropped a six-inch plank which struck him edgewise on the head. At the Flower Hospital Long was received, his head bound up and he was sent home.

THIEVES IN FAKE FIGHT ON THE "L."

While Three 'Battled,' Others Went Through Pockets of the Passengers.

How would you like it if, while you were watching a bully fight, you were suddenly to discover it was not the impromptu affair it appeared to be at all but simply got up for the purpose of engaging your attention while friends of the pugilists went through your pockets?

This was the experience of several passengers on a north-bound Second avenue train to-day. Three young fellows on the third car had argued loudly over the primary elections all the way from Chatham Square. The argument waxed warmer and warmer, and at Eighth street one of the orators invited the others to come out on the platform and have it out. It looked like a hot scrap and half of those in the car followed them.

The motorman blew his whistle for a riot call and the reserves of the Fifth street station came on the jump. When they got to the scene they found two men piled on top of a smaller one, whom they appeared to be unmelting ferociously. Detective Vassermann recognized the combatants as well-known pickpockets and arrested them. Then the crowd took stock and found the fight had been arranged to the disadvantage of their pockets. Three watches and several wallets were among the missing, but the "stalls" who had worked while the others fought, had got away.

Magistrate Whitman, in the Yorkville Court, fined the prisoners, who gave the names of Joseph Brown, Samson Green and Joseph Brown, $10 each for disorderly conduct. As they could not pay they were locked up.

TROUBLE AHEAD FOR SULTAN

Moroccan Ruler Gets Protests from France and Belgium.

TANGIER, Morocco, Sept. 19.—The attitude of the Sultan during the disorders at Oua Blanca Sept. 11 when Cherif Tachalain, with 500 men, pillaged the French iron works there and pursued Europeans through the streets, wounding several of them, have called forth official protests from the French and Belgian Ministers to Morocco.

These diplomats have notified Mohammed VI, Sultan, the Foreign Minister, that their governments reserved the right to demand indemnity for the pillage of Franco-Belgian establishments.
